Army To Establish New ROTC Unit At W-M In July

Students will be able to sign up for military courses for the fall semester, with the establishment of a new ROTC unit of the mechanized field artillery on July 15.

In a letter to President John E. Pomfret, the commanding general of the second army, A. C. Wedemeyer, stated that the War Department has approved the establishment of the new unit. A regular army officer will be appointed by the War Department to serve as professor of military science and tactics.

During the first two years, students will use military science and tactics as one of their elective courses. Anyone going through the third and fourth years is eligible for commission, providing that some time is spent in the army doing field service during the summer period.

Special provisions will probably be made for veterans, President Pomfret declared. The program is voluntary and entails no change in curriculum.

Backdrop Group Names Varsity Show "Heat's On"

"The Heat's On" will be the name of the first varsity show since 1942, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 9 and 10, in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

The production, subtitled "Mephistofollies of 1947," will climax weeks of writing, casting and rehearsals by the Backdrop club, led by president Bill Smith.

Smith termed the show title, "The greatest thing since Seven-Up."

Theatre Presentation Of "Joan Of Lorraine" Will Begin Tomorrow

The curtain will part tomorrow at 8 p. m. on the William and Mary Theatre production of Joan of Lorraine. Maxwell Anderson's "play within a play" will star Ginna Lewis, as Joan, Ronald King as Masters, the director, and Clint Atkinson as the Dauphin.

The plot of the play centers about the efforts of a cast to find and express the theme of a play concerning the life and martyrdom of Joan of Arc. The scenes depict a rehearsal on a bare stage with the players producing the story of Joan's visions and her aid in saving France.

Production Sponsor

Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic fraternity, is sponsoring the production of Joan of Lorraine. A special feature will be the 16 page programs which will carry stories and pictures of the cast. Cost of the program will be defrayed by advertisers from Williamsburg and the college.

The cast of the play is as follows: Masters, the director, Ronald King; Al, the stage manager, Nathan Hutchinson; Mary, (Joan), Ginna Lewis; Abbey (Jacques d'Arc) (Cauchon, Bishop of Beauvais), Jean Cutler; Mrs. Barnes (Isabelle Romee), Mary Gerschank; Jo Codwell (Jean d'Arc), Mike Hopkins; Dolner (Pierre d'Arc), Bill Hux; Elling (Durand Laxart), Gene Black; Farwell (Jean de Metz) (executioner), See JOHN OF LORRAINE, Page 7

Ballot Names Fifty-Six For Assembly Elections

With elections for student body president scheduled for Friday, May 2, the ballot remained unfilled at 3:30 this afternoon. Jim Fitzpatrick, Walt Coleman and a third, as yet unnamed, candidate will run for the presidency.

Elections will be held from 1 to 6 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa vestibule.

Fifty-six students are slated to run for positions on the Student Assembly. Six people will be elected from each class.

Senior Nominations

Running for senior class representatives are Bob Jennings, Dan Dallet, Bob Quackenbush, Mark Waldo, Fletcher Cox, Pat Ellison, Clyde Simmons, John Gordon, Bill Lucas and Grant Wilbur. Women candidates are Jean Morgan, Ann Andrews, Audre Barthold, Betty Coumbe, Elizabeth Gilling, LB Moore, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Barbara Simons and Jay McQuat.

Junior candidates include George Duborg, Reid Pully, Basil Woolley, Ken Scott, Bob Cartwright, James Dowd, Ernest Edwards, Bill Gould, Bob Ascherl, Mary Moore, Tuga Wilson, Penny Allenbaugh, Jane Coleman, Joan Felix, Peggy Helms, Phyllis Ann Coulter, Mary Lou Hostetter and Ruth Nenzel.

Aides Speed Sale Of Finals Tickets

Every effort will be made to speed the sale of advance tickets to June Finals during the remaining eight-day sale period, according to Bert Rance and Howard Hyle, co-chairmen of publicity for the President's Aides, sponsors of the dances.

The Aides have reported very few sales so far, but have expressed the hope that the situation will improve greatly in the next week, since students under the "GI bill" receive their monthly subsistence checks about the first of each month. The Aides hope to sell at least 600 tickets in the advance sale, which ends May 7.

Thomas Thorne, head of the Fine Arts department, and production manager for the Jamestown Corporation, expressed confidence that the amphitheatre in Matoaka Park will be ready for the dance. Mr. Thorne stated

Seven Beauties To Vie For Queenship In May Day Balloting On Thursday

May Queen to reign over the WSCGA-sponsored festivities next week end will be chosen in elections at noon on Thursday, May 1, in the college cafeteria.

Barbara Duborg, Tooker Ewart, Martha Lamborn, Betty Littlefield, Jean Myers, Fran Moore and Robbie Robinson were nominated by balloting in the cafeterias on Thursday, Apr. 24.

All of the nominees are juniors except seniors Barbara Duborg and Fran Moore. The six runners-up will compose the queen's court.

President John E. Pomfret will crown the queen at ceremonies on Saturday, May 3, from 3 to 5 p. m., at the east end of the Sunken Garden. After the crowning, the monarch and her court will reign over the annual intramural song contest, in which sororities and women's dormitories will participate. Each organization will present an original college song and a spring song. Orchesis, the modern dance group, will entertain with a dance presentation.

The May Day week-end festivities will begin with a semi-formal dance on Friday from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m. in Blow gymnasium. The seven beauties will participate in a figure at the dance, with the identity of the queen remaining a secret until the following afternoon at her crowning.

Red Overton and his orchestra, well-known Peninsula dance band, will play at the dance. Tickets will be on sale at the door. An informal dance, with the college dance band, will conclude the week end Saturday night.

The three councils of Women Students' Cooperative Government association have charge of the week end, with the Executive council in charge of plans and decorations, the Honor committee handling publicity and invitations and the Judicial committee in charge of refreshments and entertainment.

Four men who drank in public at the William and Mary vs. Tulane tennis match on Saturday, Apr. 19, have been penalized by being put on extreme probation. This means that they may date, attend classes and attend athletic events as spectators; but they may not attend any college social functions, take part in extra-curricular activities, or run for student government office. Both the deans of men and students, and the students themselves, feel that they were lucky not to have been suspended from college.

No Power At All

We believe that while the college obviously has the power to deprive a student of his right to hold student government office—the thing has been done—it does not have the right to do so. As authority, we cite the college catalog for 1945-46, pg. 41:

"The College believes it essential to draw a clear line between use and misuse of intoxicating liquors. Therefore, the College regards any evidence of the misuse of alcohol as a serious breach of accepted standards of deportment, and such abuse may be punished by loss of social privileges, probation, or separation." (Italics ours)

The dean of students believes that the college should have the right to set character standards for student government officers and that, in fact, it has that right, derived from (a) the administration's original sanction of student government, (b) previous actions in which students have been (1) deprived of student government privileges because of academic standing or (2) deprived of extra-curricular activities privileges as a disciplinary measure, (c) the statement on page 42 of the college catalog: "No student shall be eligible to hold a class office unless he is a member in good standing of the class which he seeks to represent."

Mr. Lambert takes the position that there is no essential difference between extra-curricular activities and student government. We would point out that the college differentiates in the catalog. Mr. Lambert believes the phrase "in good standing" means both academic and disciplinary standing; we believe that through usage it has narrowed down to the same meaning as "bona fide" in the Student Government Constitution: purely academic.

We could wish that, instead of a constitution, student government were given a charter, since all its powers are delegated and, under the present system, subject to being rescinded at any moment. The main power of the students, we thought, was to name their own representatives. We were wrong; they have no power at all.

Letters To The Editor Discuss

Bot-E-Talk, Chowning's And Memories, "Brief Encounter"

To the editor:

As a reader of The FLAT HAT, I would like to make a few suggestions which I trust will prove of some value.

It is my impression that all students at William and Mary are entitled to The FLAT HAT, on an equal basis. The students occupying the Richmond Road Veterans' dormitories have had difficulty obtaining copies. For the past few issues, what few copies that have found their way to the "barracks" have been picked up on the campus or have wandered out by themselves. There has been no signs of regular distribution since the first couple of issues this semester, when they did arrive a few days late. In Vet Dorm E in particular we have had only two issues delivered to us this semester. I believe this is a serious neglect on the part of the circulation staff and should be rectified immediately.

Another source of complaint which I wish to register is in regards to the Bot-E-Talk column. Must one be a sorority or fraternity member to rate mention? There is a very large portion of the student body not included in this category who are, nevertheless, living. Perhaps if this fact would be brought to the notice of Bot-E, he might create a column that would be interesting to a large number of readers.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT M. BEUGER.

Editor's Note: We're sorry. Their shortcomings have been pointed out to Bot-E and Mr. Bailey.

To the editor:

The FLAT HAT is one of the chief outlets for student gripes. We have read in its pages during the past few months letters and articles panning the administration, the Board of Visitors, the alumni, and the Restoration. Many of these criticisms have been well-deserved. Our administration often seems to look upon us as either children or mental cases. Our Board of Visitors dictates the policies of this college from afar with little opportunity to discover the true state of affairs in Williamsburg. Our alumni, except for a praiseworthy few, appear to lack any real interest in the well-being and progress of William and Mary.

These criticisms do not give us the complete picture. What is the matter with us—the students of William and Mary? We can't blame everything on someone else.

The Restoration is on the verge of closing Chowning's Tavern. Why? Because some of us have not acted like the mature people we wish to be considered. We have one more chance. If we do not abuse the privileges we have, we will continue to have them. If we do abuse these privileges, we won't go to Chowning's any more and later we may not have the use of the golf course or the Game room at the Lodge. We won't be able to blame the Restoration, the administration, or the Board of Visitors for that. It will be our fault. It is obvious that this policy has not been successful. What we do not seem to realize is that we are not improving our lot by lying down on the job merely because other people are at fault.

We can have little pride in our college or in ourselves unless we are willing to act like ladies and gentlemen and to work together for the common purpose. There will always be some who will jeopardize the rights of their fellow students by the wrong type of conduct. If we would we could control those few simply through our attitude. Public opinion may be a powerful weapon. A healthy kind of public opinion is known as school spirit! Public opinion at William and Mary does not seem to be of that kind.

We owe a duty to the memory of those who came before us and who made this college great, to those who will follow us, and to ourselves. We will owe that duty as long as we live. That duty is to work for a better William and Mary—a William and Mary that has more than old traditions and a hallowed past—a college of which we can truly sing "Iron shod or golden sandaled shall the years go by; still our hearts shall weave about thee love than cannot die."

Sincerely,

LYON G. TYLER, JR.
President of the student body.

To the editor:

Some months ago Mr. Carter's column threw a well-deserved shower of bricks at a British film, "They Were Sisters." I don't think "Henry V" was really qualified to count as a reply to that criticism, since it was so unusual a film, but next week in Williamsburg there will be one which should merit nothing but the most extravagant praise: "Brief Encounter," Britain's blue ribbon movie for 1946. It's a masterpiece, and ought to redeem our film reputation forever. The fact that particularly pleases me about it is that its backgrounds are so completely true to life and unexaggerated. I live in a very similar district myself, and I know it's all right. You really would see places like that all over England. I hope that everyone at William and Mary will see this; if an American company had made it, it would be getting awards ten years from now.

Sincerely,

KATHERINE E. CAFFREY

Carter Asks For Men's S. G. In

William And Mary-Go-Round

Recent actions of misconduct have resulted in the withdrawal from college of one student, the probation of four others and the placing of two fraternities on either social or disciplinary probation for the rest of the semester. All sentences have come from the office of the dean of men or through such officers of the college Discipline committee.

These actions and reactions indicate more thoroughly the need for a men's Senate (or whatever name you will) to be incorporated in the student government system as we now have it, in much the same language and processes as the Women's Student Government now very much in operation.

Taking a cue from a student government system existing upon one of the South's larger co-ed campuses, we should like to see a similar system emerge upon our campus. Incorporated in the legislative power section of the constitution of the University of North Carolina is a Men's Senate which has the power "to make all social rules affecting men only, except those which affect the lawful rights of privately-owned residences and those regulating conduct within dormitories."

The judicial power is vested in a Men's Interdormitory council and a Men's Dormitory council. The former is empowered with the making of "rules affecting conduct of men in dormitories; to serve as a court of appeal to hear cases coming up from the Men's Dormitory councils; to speak for dormitory men in dealings with the University." The latter is composed of officers selected by members of each men's dormitory and "shall have original jurisdiction in all cases involving infraction of dormitory social rules. It shall have original jurisdiction in all cases involving damage to dormitory property." Also, the Dormitory council "... shall have power to make such special rules concerning conduct as shall not conflict with the rulings of the Men's Interdormitory council."

A men's student government set up in a manner similar to the women's student government would concern itself with the problems, activities and other matters pertaining to the men only on this campus. In such a manner prescribed, the men would have a concerted voice in the handling of their own particular problems without abridging or abrogating the rights and duties of other legislative and judicial bodies as prescribed in other sections of the student government constitution.

One might ask the question, "Do you think such powers could be placed in the hands of the men students and expect it to be handled properly?" Our answer to this is that the Honor System is in the hands of the students and the two councils have the respect of the college concerning the administration of the system. Again, the Women's Student Government, though perhaps not perfect, has operated very efficiently for the activities and problems concerning women. We believe the men students can and will accept their responsibilities in a like manner.

In a properly constituted student government there is something strong which binds the students together and makes our play as well as our work worth while.

Pritchard Takes A Look At

Williamsburg In The Spring

It certainly was a shame that 35 visiting coeds from Randolph Macon had to drive down to Williamsburg from Lynchburg in their convertibles and station wagons. We couldn't help but worry about their being tired from the drive. And, furthermore, they had men with them and we were worried about their being out after dark ... with men, in cars! The local sisters who were their hostesses blushed and said pleasant "no thank you" when they were offered rides to the Lodge. "We wouldn't crowd you for the world and, besides, we need to exercise our fallen arches ...

Garden week is upon us and we look with a certain amount of the green-eyed demon at the Lincoln Continentals, the Buick convertibles, and the Chrysler Town and Countries which cruise down the Duke's boulevard. And we can't help but wonder if those people who ride around in horse-drawn buggies aren't taking their history a bit too seriously.

We shudder when we see truck loads of college students off to an outing. We've read horror stories about school buses, etc. But, of course, trucks aren't dangerous for "there is safety in numbers" ... and besides, an accident involving 40 college students would make a bigger splash in the papers ... and on the concrete ...

SURE SIGNS OF SPRING:

What can the future hold. The last time the campus had its face lifted it was Churchill and Eisenhower. We fully expect the Bombay cricket team any day ...

The cherry blossoms, the increasing migration to Matoaka, the advanced bio scholars with a plant-seeking look, and the march to Barrett are all symptoms ... We wax Poetic or Gestic:

Barrett roof,
serene, aloof
in winter.
Penthouse center of pale coeds
where all begin with lily skin
and use a favorite potion.
And in their need some succeed
with vinegar and lotion.
And others try
with do or die

to imitate their sisters.

But, all in vain
for all is pain

And all they get are blisters.

ROYALTY AGAIN:

News item: William and Mary's royal family is increasing. A May queen will be added this week to the list of non-ruling royalty. We feel a certain sympathy for Lou Hoitsma and Mel Wright who must bear the burden of male monarchs while the feminine honors are so well dispersed. We are afraid that within a few years, commoners will become rare and William and Mary will be furnishing competition for the beer companies. ...

WHO SAID THE HEAT'S ON?

The weatherman could hardly affirm that such is true, and we know the engineers at the power plant can't claim it (our radiators have a bluish hue). It's true that exams are just around the corner. And it's further true that separations from the college are going to challenge the divorce rate. And, furthermore, it's spring and the S. G. is very much in use. We all guessed it ... THE HEAT'S ON!

People Cooperate To Spare Campus

Wally Heatwole, chairman of the "Spare the Campus" campaign, sponsored by ODK, has announced that the college is cooperating fully in the effort to preserve lawns and walks.

Paths have been reseeded and fertilized, signs have been put up, 500,000 bricks have been used in relaying the walks.

"Most students have cooperated in staying off the footpaths. ODK appreciates their cooperation and hopes it will continue," Heatwole stated.

The Plague Arrives, Or — The Coming Of Tourists

By FLETCHER COX

The broad Duke of Gloucester Street is known for many reasons—To the student, next to harboring most of the establishments wherein may be bought alcoholic refreshments, it furnishes a milling mass of tourists—it throngs with rank outsiders who clutter up the landscape and breathe their presence far and near with such statements as, "Aren't you too, too delighted to be going to school among such quaint buildings?" or "Is dis Williams and Marys?"

There are two ways of taking tourists—you either boil inwardly at high prices, crowded conditions, and the life-and-death matter of crossing the street—which may be attributed to the rank outsider—or you may watch them, the light of human benevolence shining in your eyes, and laugh inwardly or outwardly at the touring American public. The following is printed in an effort to help you enjoy them—They're here—might as well make the best of it.

Descent Upon Williamsburg

With the coming of spring, the American tourist (used derogatorily to denote the gungling idiot who thinks it smart to visit "where just everyone else has gone"), emerges from hibernation and endangers life and limb by wheeling madly about the country in various articles of transportation. Sooner or later, he descends upon Williamsburg, where he may be seen any sunny day, many cloudy days, and even on rainy days, between the months of March and October wandering about with neck out-stretched, camera poised, and tour pamphlets protruding from pockets.

Be he of high, medium, or low estate, the tourist immediately upon entering Williamsburg frantically gropes for pictorial proof of his being amid glories of the past. He sends off mounds of post cards informing all intimate, luke warm and casual friends of his exposure to culture.

The Tour

His guide book of Williamsburg (25¢) directs him to the right places at the right time. He eagerly surveys printed pages and the buildings they describe. He touches, he handles, he runs his fingers over everything. He self-consciously knows he is an outsider, and feels pretty much like a simpering idiot. He therefore acts like one. He tours the buildings; and, upon emerging therefrom, has his picture taken with the hostess, without the hostess, in front of and along side of shrubs, gates and gardens, and several more which his friends may look at and say, "Why, this is the one where John is pretending he is Lord Cornwallis surveying his estate—how clever!"

The Souvenir

Tour complete, he buys "some little something" with Made in Williamsburg, Souvenir of Williamsburg, or Replica of Restored Article of Williamsburg, Virginia printed on it. His money flows like his gushing remarks to passers-by on how fortunate to dwell amid this gem of early American life. Last but not least, he purchases a book telling him all about all that he has seen; and then embarks upon his homeward trip, turning over and over in his mind the eulogies which he will emit when telling friends of his tour.

Tourists invade the classrooms, the library, and may some day force the doors of the dormitories. They're here to stay—just like the "D's" on term papers. Might just as well make the best of it!

C. P. Pate Clarifies Misunderstanding Of VA Supplies

A misunderstanding which has existed for some time as to whether veterans who interrupt their training can retain the books and supplies has been clarified by C. P. Pate, director of training and education for the Richmond branch office of the Veterans Administration.

All books and supplies issued to veterans in school automatically become their personal property upon the completion of the semester's work, Mr. Pate said. However, if the veteran interrupts his training while school is in session, under certain VA rules he must turn in his books and supplies.

A veteran must turn in his books and supplies, Mr. Pate said, if he withdraws under the following conditions: interruption of training is at the request of the institution; withdrawing without previously notifying the VA; interruption caused by consistently unsatisfactory reports on conduct or progress; or failure to complete the course caused by misconduct or negligence.

Fraternity Association Raises Requirements For Pledging, Initiation

Another boost in scholastic requirements for both pledging and initiation was voted by the Fraternity association in a meeting held on Thursday night, Apr. 22.

The new qualifications, which will become effective in September, require 12 credit hours passed with a .50 quality point average for eligibility. The previous system, adopted Mar. 13, set nine hours passed and a .50 average as the requirement.

At the same meeting, it was announced that Bill Norgren of Lambda Chi Alpha will succeed Tom Athey, Phi Kappa Tau, as president of the Fraternity association next month.

Garden Week Gives Public Opportunity To See Private Homes

Garden Week in Williamsburg began yesterday and will end Sunday, May 4. This week provides an opportunity to the public for visiting many of the homes and gardens not regularly open to the public.

The local pilgrimage is in conjunction with Garden Week celebrations throughout Virginia, and is sponsored in Williamsburg by the Garden club and the women's organization of Bruton Parish church.

College Girls To Assist

Fifty college girls as well as several housemothers will act as hostesses in the Wren building. Robert H. Land, associate librarian, has prepared a pamphlet containing a history of the Wren building, which the hostesses will use for reference.

Homes and gardens open for inspection will include the Alexander Craig house, the Semple house, the James Geddy house, the Coke-Garrett garden, the Dean house and the Blair house. An inclusive charge of $2.00 provides admission to the four homes and gardens that are listed for each day. Bruton Parish church, the old courthouse and Wren building will be open to visitors without charge.

Students To Elect Outstanding Athlete

Braves, With 33 Straight, To Meet Virginia, Duke

Having run their consecutive-victory total to 35 by virtue of three northern triumphs, William and Mary's tennis aces will be looking for two more wins this week. They must meet the University of Virginia in Charlottesville Thursday and play host to Duke at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Virginia's squad has a fair record for the season though they have defeated no school of importance except Yale. Last Saturday they absorbed an 8-1 trimming at the hands of John Kenfield's North Carolina outfit. Other results include a pair of 5-4 losses to Michigan State and an 8-1 conquest of Washington and Lee.

State Champion Hal Burrows, the Cavaliers' No. 1 man, has been beaten only twice this year. He lost to Dick Savitt, of Cornell, 6-4, 6-4, and bowed to Carolina's Seixas after a hard three-set duel.

Duke has very little material, Ed Davis being about the only experienced and capable man available. Tulane's team, which the Indians defeated, 6-3, trampled the Blue Devils, 9-0.

The Tribe chalked up three shutout victories during their northern journey, taking Army and Navy, 9-0, and winning over Princeton, 8-0, the No. 1 doubles engagement being halted by darkness with each team having won a set.

Two Injuries

Two injuries, however, marred the trip. During the match between Gardner Larned and Army's Charlie Oliver the Tribe star turned his ankle. The extent of his injury was to have been determined by today. In unloading baggage Bob Golloway had a trunk lid fall on his right hand and he may not be able to play this week.

An improved Princeton team gave Coach Sharvy Umbeck's men their best competition of the week. Fred Kovalski, Bren Macken and Howe Atwater each lost a set. Kovalski was down 4-1 and 5-2 in the third before he managed to pull out a 4-6, 6-1, 7-5 win over Allen Watson. Bill Vogt and Ted Prior split sets with Larned and Tut Bartzen before darkness halted the doubles battle.

Rain at West Point caused the Army match to be played on the concrete courts of Smith Rink and the visitors dropped only one set in an easy triumph over the Cadets. Larned, playing some of his best tennis of the year, took a rapid love set from Oliver. Midway of the second, he hurt his ankle but went on to win in spite of this handicap, 6-0, 6-8, 6-2.

At Annapolis the Braves took their second easy victory in two years over the Middies. Wet grounds caused cancellation of the Seton Hall match which was scheduled for last Saturday at Newark.

TRIBE TOPICS

By ED GRIFFIN

When you vote for William and Mary's most outstanding athlete don't lose sight of what big Bob Gill is doing for the Indian baseball squad. His two-hit masterpiece against the Richmond Spiders last Saturday must rank with the best games ever pitched at Cary Field.

His mates got only one run for Bob but that was all he needed as he held the vaunted Spider attack almost completely in check. Until Weenie Miller singled to open the ninth, Gill had not permitted a solid hit, the only other safe blow for Richmond being Bo Nelson's blooper into short right.

Bob had earned a victory in his previous outing against V.P.I. but fielding errors of omission and commission proved his downfall. Yesterday, however, there were no blunders to mar his brilliant effort. The Red and Blue came to Williamsburg on the wings of a ten-game winning streak and left with only a bitter memory of Gill's tantalizing curve.

Jack Dempsey Trophy Will Reward Top Man

Who is THE outstanding athlete at William and Mary?

That is the question. You can help answer it. THE outstanding athlete will be picked by popular vote of the student body. And the winner will receive the Jack Dempsey-Adam Hat trophy, a handsome bronze trophy standing nearly two feet in height. Dempsey, the one-time world's heavyweight boxing champion, gave the trophy sometime ago. He gave similar trophies to selected other colleges. The trophy is now on exhibit in Blow Gym.

The FLAT HAT has agreed to help conduct the election and will print a ballot in each of its next two editions. Only The FLAT HAT ballot is official. No others will be counted. Voting will officially end May 15 and the winner will be announced in The FLAT HAT May 20.

Jackie Freeman, outstanding football player of pre-war years and one of the mainstays of the 1946 team, has accepted the chairmanship of the committee in charge of the vote counting. Serving with him will be Bren Macken, junior class president John Dayton, freshman class president, and Ed Griffin, FLAT HAT sports editor.

Students are urged to consider carefully all athletes in voting. It's up to the student body to make the choice. Will it be Gardner Larned or Tut Bartzen or some other member of the current tennis team? Will it be Tommy Karczowski, the football wizard and baseball shortstop? Or will it be Stan Magdziak, of football, basketball and baseball activity? Or will it be Knox Ramsey, Tommy Thompson, Bob Steckroth, Ralph Sazio, Jack Cloud, Tom Mikula or some other of the horde of footballers? or Chet Giermak, the high-point man on the basketball squad?

It doesn't have to be based on participation in more than one sport. And it doesn't have to be confined to any one sport. They're all eligible. Just vote for the guy who you think exemplifies everything expected of the outstanding athlete.

JACKIE FREEMAN, chairman of the ballot committee, and Athletic Director R. N. McCray view the Jack Dempsey trophy which is to be awarded to William and Mary's most outstanding athlete.

Tut Bartzen, Tribe Tennis Captain, Remains Unbeaten Because Of Ability, Determination

By ED GRIFFIN

Though he's the smallest guy on the William and Mary tennis team, Tut Bartzen, recently-elected captain of the great Indian outfit, comes from the biggest state in the nation; and his determination and will to win are reminiscent of the spirit of his Texas ancestors.

The truth of this statement is readily apparent when one looks at his sparkling collegiate record. Tut has come through undefeated in 33 consecutive singles matches and has been on the losing side in just one doubles engagement.

Bartzen matriculated at William and Mary in September 1944. "I wanted to play tennis and this is the place where I can get the best competition," he explains.

14 Victories

During his initial season in the spring of '45 the little Texan served notice that he was not only willing but also extremely able to play his favorite sport. He lost his first set of the year to Frank Mehener, of Army, and then proceeded to win all the rest, romping to victory in each of his 14 matches.

Last spring, playing No. 2 behind big Gardner Larned, Tut nearly doubled his string of triumphs as the Indians swept unchecked through 17 engagements. Despite a sprained ankle which sidelined him for almost two weeks, he won 12 matches, dropping the phenomenally low total of just 13 games.

Bartzen, who, like the top jazz pianists, has a wicked left hand, began his southpaw racket wielding at the age of ten, some nine years ago, and has been playing almost constantly ever since.

A city tournament in his home town of San Angelo was the occasion for Tut's first venture into competitive play. He gained the finals before losing to a boy four years his senior. This handicap proved too much to overcome but Bartzen made up for it by winning the next district tourney.

He won the state sectional boys' title in singles and teamed with Ed Ray, now No. 1 man for Yale, to take the honors in doubles. Tut came out on top in state interscholastic doubles play while a sophomore at San Angelo High and triumphed in singles during his junior and senior years. He was hampered by a rule which prohibited anyone from entering both the singles and doubles divisions in the same year.

Interscholastic Title

The diminutive left-hander experienced his first banner season in 1944 when he won the National Interscholastic championship, defeating Ray in the finals, 12-10, 6-3, 6-3. He then produced a triumph in the Western juniors and teamed with Ray to win the doubles. His third singles title of the season was gained at River Forest, Ill., in the junior division. Tut's partner in his doubles conquest of this tourney was Glenn Bassett.

Bartzen gained the finals of the National juniors at Kalamazoo, Mich., and took a love set from Bob Falkenburg before losing. He and Ray were runners-up to Falkenburg and John Shea in doubles.

Evert Defeated

Tut gave perhaps the best performances of his career in tournament play last summer. He won the Middle Atlantic crown, defeating Jimmy Evert, of Notre Dame, 6-2, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2. With Evert's aid, he also took the doubles title. It is interesting to note that Evert, the defending champion, won in '45 by beating Bartzen's teammate and former doubles partner, Bren Macken.

The Tribe star turned in one of the major upsets of the National Clay Courts when he tripped sixth-seeded Gayle Kellogg, 4-6, 6-0, 6-3, to reach the quarter-finals. There he gave Gardner Mulloy a terrific three-hour fight before yielding, 6-4, 9-7, 8-6.

Unfortunate Upset

Tut's upset of Elwood Cooke in the Southern at Louisville, Ky., ruined his chances for honors in the National Intercollegiate. He played Frank Parker on the day before the latter tourney started and arrived in Evanston, Ill., in time to get about four hours sleep before playing his first-round match against John Shea. Bartzen put up a good fight but lost 4-6, 6-2, 4-6.

His performances earned the Indian captain a national Class A

Spiders Meet Track Squad

This Saturday, at Williamsburg, Coach Tom Power's trackmen meet their traditional rivals the Richmond Spiders in a dual meet.

Last week the Tribesmen gained their first win of the season and came within seven points of hanging up a second victory. Wednesday they took 10 out of 14 firsts to roll over the Newport News Apprentice School, 80-46. Lou Hoitsma-shot put, Mac Staceski-mile, George Sheehan-high jump, Harry Wenning-javelin, Francis McFall-100 and 220 dashes, Richard "Snake" Drake-120 hurdles, Clarence "Rocket" Roy-880, Flanagan-discus and Spence Overton-two mile, were the men who gained the 10 Tribe firsts.

William and Mary lost to V.M.I., 66 2/3 to 59 1/3 in the Tribe's second meet of the week. Both teams won seven firsts, however V.M.I. took eight second places, W&M gained five and one event was tied.

Nelson Rancorn won the high jump with 5' 11"; "Rocket" Roy won the 880 in 2:02.5 and Albert Rosenfeld jumped 21' 4" to take the broad jump. Other winners were Wenning, McFall, Hoitsma and Walt Leonard.

Swimmers Star

Frances House and Celine Reinbrecht starred in the minor college results which puts William and Mary in 12th place in the national telegraphic swimming meet.

In the 100-yd. breaststroke Fran's time was 1:44 sec. and Celine's 1:33 sec. in the 100-yd. back crawl. Among the southern region records Celine holds the title for the 60-yd. individual medley relay in 56.1 sec.

Indians Face Cavaliers Tomorrow

Gill Hurls Two-Hitter, Blanking Richmond, 1-0

By WALTER RAYMOND

William and Mary plays the University of Virginia here tomorrow in a baseball game scheduled to start at 3:15. Thursday W&M plays Camp Lee there, and Saturday the Tribesmen travel to Hampden-Sydney to meet the Tigers in a return game. Next Tuesday, the Norfolk Naval Station comes here to play the Braves.

In the big game for the Indians last week Bob Gill hurlled a brilliant two-hit shutout over the Richmond Spiders, by besting their ace pitcher Kilpatrick, 1-0. Excellent pitching and fielding marked the game; only a total of seven hits were allowed and there was but one error committed in the field.

The Indians picked up their lone run in the third when Charley Unrue led off with a double to left. Gill sacrificed him to third, and Tommy Korczowski hit a long fly to left; Unrue came in after the catch. Twice Dick Hill, Indian right fielder was robbed of extra base hits by "Cotton" Billingsley, Richmond centerfielder.

In the Richmond half of the ninth with two out and Weenie Miller on third, Gill struck out pinch-hitter Dan Ramer to win the game and hand the Spiders their first loss after ten straight wins.

In another game earlier in the week the Indians dropped Hampden-Sydney, 5-4 in ten innings. Al Dawson hurled the first seven innings, but had to be relieved in

Archery Team To Enter Meet

During the week of May 17-24 the girls' archery team will participate in the intercollegiate telegraphic meet sponsored by the National archery association.

No definite squad has yet been announced but according to Miss Dodson the following girls who competed last year will be back: Lois Walker, Margaret Thompson, Joan Teer, Marjorie Wedge, Phyllis Struse, Ruth Schank and Barbara Stoltz.

Each school may enter as many teams as desired and scoring will be based on team scores. Winners will be chosen from the country and from certain specified districts. Individual certificates will be awarded those who score over 425, Class A; 350, Class B; and 300, Class C.

rating and, with Herbie Flann, he ranks seventh in doubles.

Bartzen, whose real name is Bernard, can shed no light on the origin of his nickname. The only theory he is able to advance is that King Tut's tomb was opened on his birthday, Nov. 25, and he thinks that this fact might have some bearing on the matter. Whatever the reason for his name, the mere sound of it is enough to cause about a 30-point drop in the confidence of any of his collegiate opponents.

Co-ed Netters Enter Tourney

In an effort to better last year's record in tennis intercollegiate, two and perhaps three of the co-ed net squad will take part in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate tennis tournament this week end. The matches will be played at Bryn Mawr on Friday and Saturday, May 2 and 3.

Last season two of the Squaws hit the limelight in the tourney. Elaine Passow Lampe went as far as the semi-finals where she was turned back by the girl who eventually copped the entire tournament.

Betty Coumbe battled her way as far as the quarter-finals, but she, too, was defeated by the eventual winner of the matches.

This year, Miss Martha Barksdale, co-ed tennis coach, holds higher hopes for her charges. As yet, the only definite plans are for Lampe and Coumbe to enter the tournament, but Margie Oak and one other player might participate also.

Besides William and Mary, there will be at least seven other colleges participating for the award of the rotating cup. Some of the more familiar schools which are sending representatives are Vassar, University of Pennsylvania, Bryn Mawr, Swarthmore and Lake Erie.

all "Rubber Guts" got one home run each.

The horseshoe tournament is now in the second round of play. Deadline for the playing of rounds is as follows: round 2, May 9; round 3, May 15; round 4, May 20; round 5, May 22; and quarter-finals, semi-finals, and finals on May 23 and 24.

The preliminaries of the Intramural Track and Field Meet will be held on May 16 and the finals on Saturday, May 17. All men are eligible except those who have won a varsity letter and those who are still listed as members of the 1947 track aggregation as of Apr. 22.

The following events will comprise the meet. Field—high jump, broad jump, discus throw and shot put. Track—100, 220, 440 and 880-yard dashes.

SAE, Sigma Rho, and Kappa Alpha have jumped into the lead in the fraternity softball league with three wins and no losses. SAE garnered two of its wins during the past week by trouncing Phi Alpha, 25-1, and then running all over Lambda Chi Alpha, 31-2.

In the former contest the hitting of Bob Longacre, Lou Hoitsma and Jack Cloud showed the way. Cloud, batting in the cleanup slot, got 4 for 5, a single, double, triple and home run. In the latter game the first triple play of the season was pulled off, from Holley to Davis to Ward.

Sigma Rho kept pace with them by beating Sigma Pi, 10-3. Chet Mackiewicz allowed the losers only three hits, while his teammates touched Marvin Graham for 11. Frank O'Pella, with a double and a home run, led the hitters. Walt Gardner got two of the three Sigma Pi hits. Sigma Rho also beat Pi Lambda Phi, 14-1.

Kappa Alpha kept its record clean by beating Phi Kappa Tau, 6-4, and Lambda Chi Alpha, 13-9. Other scores of the week are: Kappa Sigma 29, Theta Delta Chi 22; Kappa Sigma 9, Pi Lambda Phi 8; and Pi Kappa Alpha 11, Lambda Chi Alpha 9.

In the Dorm and Independent league only four teams were able to get games in. On Wednesday Vets "A" swept both ends of a double header from Vets "C", 11-6 and 10-6. On Thursday the "Rubber Guts" took a hard-fought extra-inning contest from OD "A", 16-15, and then romped to a 14-6 win in the nightcap. Bill James hit for the circuit twice while Charlie Teach and Charlie Sokol,

German Club Members Elect Graves President

Lynn Graves was elected the new president of the German club at a meeting held on Thursday, Apr. 24, at 7 p. m. in Washington 200.

Other officers elected are Jean Meyers, vice-president; Virginia Lore, secretary; and Bonnie Renninger, treasurer.

The German club's annual spring dance will be held on Saturday, May 10. The theme of the dance will be worked in with that of the varsity show.

Library Displays Gardening Books

In connection with the annual observance of Garden Week in Virginia, the college library has placed on display a selection of rare books and manuscripts concerning gardening and horticulture, according to R. H. Land, associate librarian.

One section of the exhibit is devoted to early printed works on the art of gardening. Most of these volumes were brought over from England and used by the Virginia colonists of the 17th century. One of the earliest of the purely American treatises was from the pen of a William and Mary alumnus, John Randolph of Williamsburg.

Further manuscript material includes 18th century notes on gardening from Sir Peyton Skipwith papers. A large percentage of the rare gardening books were presented to the library by the Garden club of Virginia in memory of the late Mrs. Fairfax Harrison of Belvoir.

Fencing Club Elects Seaton To Presidency

Jane Seaton was elected new president of the Fencing club at the meeting held Apr. 24. At the meeting the club held an informal tournament in Jefferson gym.

The varsity victor, Jane Ann Hogg and the victor of the remainder of the club, Ann Anderson, played in the finals in which Jane was the winner.

Tommie Smith was awarded a pin for winning the most bouts in first year fencing. Miss Carolyn B. Sinclair, coach, was given a present in gratitude of her services for the club.

"Warren Rockwitt and Ralph Pasak have been very helpful in coaching this semester," stated Janet Campbell, president.

Supper Club Installs Officers At Banquet

New officers were inducted by the Presbyterian Supper club on Sunday, Apr. 27 at an installation banquet.

The new officers are: Warren Sprouse, moderator; Bob Bidwell, program chairman; Sissy Bargerstock and Howard Gilkeson, prattler editors; Mary Martin, treasurer; Dolores Leven and Jim Holland, social services; Winnie Jones, Student Religious Union representative.

Guest speaker was Bob Patterson, a student of Washington and Lee and president of the Westminster Fellowship of the Synod of Virginia.

Jean Abell, a French student at the Union Seminary in Richmond, will visit the group on May 4 to speak on "Youth Fellowship Abroad."

Apr. 20, 25 members of the Supper club journeyed to Richmond for a conference with students from nearby schools. A discussion on "How a Sceptic Looks at the Bible" was led by Miss Rachel Hinderlite of Assembly's Training school.

Paul And Leach Take Royalist First Prizes

"My Beach Lies White" by Howard Paul has been judged the best poem in the second issue of the Royalist, stated Jack Solomon, editor. First prize for prose was "The Dragon With the Bloodshot Eyes" by Wilford Leach. These men will receive awards of ten dollars each.

Second prizes of five dollars each were awarded to Nancy Easley for her poem "Paradox" and John Rothert for his story "Incident."

Three faculty members and two senior students acted as secret judges, each sending a critical letter of preference to the editor after reading the second issue of the Royalist.

The third issue which will be ready early in May is now in print and the fourth issue is nearing completion with the necessary material already selected.

Hibbert Corey Lists Summer Opportunities

Summer jobs at Girl Scout and Boy Scout camps are available to students, Hibbert D. Corey, head of the Placement bureau, has announced recently.

Several positions are open on the staff of Camp Mary Day in Newton, Mass. Salaries at the Girl Scout camp run from $25 to $100 plus maintenance for the season, depending upon experience.

Camp Okee, located at Gloucester Point, Va., has openings for a crafts director, a nature study director and a commissary manager. Applications for jobs at the Boy Scout camp may be obtained through the Placement bureau.
